SOLEMN HIGH MASS AT ST. IGNATIUS' CHURCH TO OPEN BACCALAUREATE EXERCISES ON JUNE TENTH

GRADUATION IN EVENING

Mr. Rollins Hanlon To Deliver Salutatory Address; Schaub Is Valedictorian

The eighty-second annual Baccalaureate exercises of the College will be opened with a solemn High Mass at St. Ignatius' Church on Sunday, June 10, at 8.30 A. M.

The celebrant of the Mass will be the Rev. Martin L. McNulty, A.B. 1909, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Texas, Maryland. Music of the Mass will be furnished by the Saint Ignatius' Church Choir, under the direction of John M. O'Connor, of the class of 1905.

The Rev. Gerald G. Walsh, S.J., Professor of Ecclesiastical History at Woodstock College, will give the Baccalaureate address. His theme will be in keeping with the Tercentenary of Maryland.

Graduation

At 8.30 P. M., the Graduation exercises will take place in the Alumni Gymnasium at Evergreen. The Very Rev. Edward C. Phillips, S.J., Provincial of the Maryland-New York Province, will preside. The guest of honor will be his Excellency, the Governor of Maryland.

The address of the occasion will be delivered by the Hon. Clare Gerald Fenerty, Assistant District Attorney of Philadelphia. In recognition (Continued on Page 4, Col. 5)

Ciesielski Wins Prize Debate Speaking in Behalf of N. R. A.

Stanley Ciesielski, '34, was the winner of the 54th Annual Jenkins Prize Debate held in the Library on May 13. The negative was the winner of the debate on the topic "Resolved: that the U. S. should adopt the essential features of the N. R. A. as a permanent policy." The judges were Father William Nugent, S.J. of Woodstock, and Fathers Thomas Love, S.J. and F. M. Gillis, S.J. of the College faculty.

Speakers

Representing the affirmative were William Little and Stanley Ciesielski. The negative speakers were Simeon Round and Bernard Rice. Eugene Jendrek was the chairman of the debate.

Domination and Influence of Mendel's Law of Heredity Lecturer's Main Topic

Mr. Thaddeus J. Zukowski, '34, on Friday May 11, brought to a close the season's seminar discussions of the Mendel Club by an address concerning "The Development of the Egg from the Viewpoint of Genetics." The speaker appropriately accomplished a three-fold function during the course of the lecture by showing the dominance and influence of Mendel's Laws of heredity on current experimentation, the versatile genius of the man from whom the Club ultimately originates, and finally, the mad, blind plunging of practical Eugenists.

Mendel & Heredity

Mr. Zukowski said, "Genetics is the science of heredity. Many of our characteristics have been traced and proved by patient experimenting to be hereditary. Of these characteristics many can be (Continued on Page 4, Col. 3)

FATHER WIESEL OFFICIATES AT ANNUAL SODALITY RECEPTION

ALUMNI WELL REPRESENTED

The annual Communion Mass and reception of the College Sodality was held at nine o'clock on Sunday, May 13 in the students' Chapel and was followed by a breakfast in the cafeteria. Fathers of the Sodalists and members of the Alumni also attended.

Both the Mass and Benediction which followed were celebrated by Father Wiesel who also conducted the reception and delivered the address. During the Mass, a special program of vocal music was rendered by the students' choir under the direction of Father Hacker.

Rector Speaks

In his address, Father Wiesel urged the students to cooperate with the campaign against obscene and immoral movies which is being waged by student sodalities throughout the nation under the directorship of Father Daniel Lord, S.J., Editor of the "Queen's Work", official sodality organ. PROSPECTIVE GRADUATES PLAN TO FOLLOW VARIOUS CAREERS

LARGE NUMBER UNDECIDED

It is difficult enough to make up one's mind about usual matters, but when one must decide on a lifetime vocation one sits and ponders thoughtfully. And evidently the Seniors pondered long in order to think up the variety of occupations which they are to follow. The paths they have chosen run from metalurgy to undertaking, with branches that include medicine, law, and just plain employment. Some are undecided, but must some time pursue one of the 534 occupations unless they somehow manage to become gentlemen of leisure.

In coming years we shall probably find the seniors leaders in the following fields of work.

Law School

Maryland Law School has claimed Struzinski, Mueller, Askew, and Higinbotham. Sybert will be able to collect lawyer's fees after he graduates from Georgetown, and Schaub, also, when he leaves Harvard. Four others, Jackson, Ciesielski, Streckfus, and Buppert have the same aim as those above but will go to their classes at night after they finish their day's work.

A long list are going to try to find positions in most any (Continued on Page 4, Col. 3)

History Academy Closes Series With Lecture on Martin Luther

Ciesielski Discusses Abuses In Granting Indulgences As Scored by Luther

The series of lectures on "The Emergence of the Modern Man", given by members of the John Gilmary Shea History Academy, was brought to a close last Thursday when Mr. Stanislaus Ciesielski of Senior lectured on Martin Luther.

Luther was born in Eisleben, Saxony, November 10, 1483. His father, being of a brutal nature, made the early life of young Martin very unhappy. Luther received his A.B. degree from the University of Erfurt and in 1505 entered the Augustinian order.

Indulgence Controversy

In 1507 Pope Leo X wished to raise large sums of money to aid in defraying the expense of the new church of St. Peter. This campaign to raise money was marked by various abuses in the dispensation (Continued on Page 4, Col. 2)

STAFF MEMBERS ARE REWARDED FOR EFFORTS DURING THE YEAR

RECEIVE GREYHOUND PINS

The names of those members of the Greyhound staff who are to receive pins in recognition of their service were announced recently. Six Juniors and two Sophomores are to receive the awards—miniature gold Greyhounds leashed to a guard clasp.

Recipients

The recipients are: Messrs. James M. Shea, sports editor; Gregory Kane and Melvin Polek, associate editors; Joseph Feeney, the "Evergreen Reflector"; Raymond Cunningham the "Campus Clipper"; and William Kammer, sports staff member—all of the Junior Class; also Eugene Jendrek, managing editor and Murray White, circulation manager—both of Sophomore.

Roger Lewis, editor-in-chief—was awarded a pin last year as managing editor. The other Junior staff members who joined the staff only this year will receive pins next year. They are Messrs. Donald Lee, Elmer Lambdin, Edward Molz and Francis Wright.

Beach Parties, Banquet And Dances Are Planned

On Friday, May 11th, the Senior Class June Week Committee announced that all June Week plans had been formulated and except for a few small details, yet to be settled, the program has been definitely decided upon.

June Week exercises have been in vogue at Evergreen for only three years. However, since its introduction in 1931, the event has grown in size and popularity, due in great measure to the high type of entertainment offered, until now it is a firmly established tradition, and one in which every Loyola man should take an active interest.

Beach Party

Monday, June 4th, has been designated as Sophomore Day and for their contribution the Sophs are offering a beach party at the Bishop estate on the Magothy River. Bishop's is universally recognized as one of the most beautiful homes along the Magothy and the facilities offered are among the best. The Sophs deserve a large turnout for their efforts.

Tuesday, June 5th, is Freshman Day. As this goes to press, the Frosh have not definitely decided upon their (Continued on Page 4, Col. 1)

Tercentenary Field Mass To Be Held at Stadium on Wed. May 30

A week from today, Wednesday, May 30, there will be held in the Stadium a Field Mass commemorating the Tercentenary of the founding of Maryland. This celebration will be attended by all Catholic organizations of the State.

Schools to Attend

Every Catholic school in the State will be represented. From the smallest of the parochial schools and from the largest of the colleges will come individual groups of students, which, when assembled at the Stadium, will become a part of the most magnificent public ceremony that the state of Maryland has ever witnessed.

Starts at 9.30 A. M.

So Long!

This being the last issue of the Greyhound for the current scholastic year, we wish to take this opportunity to bid a brief, though none the less sincere farewell to the members of the Senior Class, and to say "au revoir" to the undergrads until September.

To the Seniors, who have blazed a trail which we are soon to follow, we wish nothing but the greatest measure of happiness and success. Though they have groaned a bit (as who hasn't?) under the burden of studies, they now possess an education which will enable them, confidently and competently to enter any walk of life they may choose, whether it be the field of higher study or the business world.

However they possess more than mere intellectual training. They now have a firm foundation of Catholic ideals, of correct ethical and philosophical principles on which to build the structure of their entire future life.

We have enjoyed the years we have spent in their company; we have profited by their example, and our only hope is, that after our own graduation, they will have not forgotten us when we go to ask them for a job!

June Week

June Week has always been, so far as we know, at least a theoretical part of the College program. It was intended to be (still theoretically speaking), a grand send-off for the departing Seniors, and a glorious celebration for under-classmen—a fitting climax to the year's activities.

June Week is still (theoretically speaking), a part of the College program. If any proof is needed, open the catalog to the bottom of page eight and see for yourselves the announcement: "June 3 Sunday. June Week Begins". However, during the past few years in spite of elaborate plans its significance has so dwindled that it is now little more than a group of words.

The phrase, "June Week Begins", as it now exists in the catalog, is in reality a misnomer—a mere colloquial termination. The word "week", at least in our language, means seven days, or according to the student's way of reckoning time, five days. By no stretch of the imagination can we conceive a real June Week to mean merely the Baccalaureate Service, Graduation, and perhaps a Senior dance. A real June Week should consist of at least five days during which activities should be held in which every student and all classes would participate. It is to be hoped that the plans which have been formulated for this year, unlike those of the past, will really materialize.

Last year in this place, we made a plea for cooperation among the various classes in carrying out the tradition of June Week in traditional style. This year we are making the same plea again. But we have learned from experience. We are not now so vain or optimistic as to think that anyone will pay any attention to it. However, lest coming generations accuse us of neglect of duty, we once more appeal to each of you individually to help make the coming Week more than a beautiful theory.

Campus Clippings

R. M. C.

You are hereby reminded that this year Loyola will again not have a June Week.

Maybe it's best after all, that the Seniors won't have to worry about a June Week. Think of all the coming weeks they have to worry about.

PARTING SHOTS—while yet we may:

A careful scrutiny will reveal that the college course has actually benefited several seniors. For example:

I—There's Pop Waidner who, as a freshman, was a mere lad of six feet and quite unschooled. He is now six feet five and four years older.

II—Then there's Milholand who suffered acutely from insomnia at the beginning of his college days. But he was not to be outdone by any such malady, and thanks to his persistence the tables were finally reversed and Otts now floats dreamily from class to class, as his college daze come to a close—but no cigar!

III—And Joe Foley (tsk, tsk). Joe, you know, started college wearing bangs. Now he insists on getting that Fallsway bob. But wait—if Joe should fail to land a steady job after graduation he can always model for the students of the barber school, that is, as long as his hair continues to grow.

If this be satire, make the most of it.

Dr. Douglas Wise, '34, connoisseur of the finer things, has found a sparkling "Ale" that mixes well in the best of company. (For details, see any Senior).

For those of you who do not know—the new clock in the Chem lecture room is made of genuine Alberine stone.

At times we wonder if seein' Hoffman is seein' Dibbell.

The seniors will hold a stag party on the campus before graduation. The first one to sag will be made to take back the empty barrels. As they say in the Organic Lab—esterific!

As a word of helpful advice, we might mention to the seniors—if you find it difficult to get a job, why not try out for the pitching staff of the Orioles?

As we go to press there still remains Dillinger—unwept, unhonored and unhung.

Last Round Up

Now that the parole is nearly here, we hope that you have a simply gurant vac., and all that sort of thing... but dont forget that there is a day of reckoning coming... it's somewhere around the fifteenth of September if we're not mistaken... suppose we'll all be back except the Seniors... at least we hope they won't be back... which is that... by the bye, we've noticed during the year, that each time this sheet appeared, an almost sacred silence descended upon the pandemonium of the cafeteria... we take a bow, and "cum permissione ei qui aliorum scrinia compilat", we offer:—

Don't you think this column's been ducky,
Don't you think that it's been neat?
Don't you think that you've been lucky,
Don't you think it's hard to beat?
Don't you think our puns and wisecracks,
Made you laugh until it hurt;
Don't you think it's been simply swelegant?!—
If you do you're off your nurt!

a certain Junior, on being asked by a Senior if he wanted to buy an "Ethics", replied sweetly, "No thir, I just bought a Chevvy"... we've noticed during the year that every time Cianos opend his mouth, Polek got his foot in it.... (I'm only kidding, youse guys)... the Clipper's B. S. friend trying to be poetical again—"Age quod agis—Age before beauty"... a Professor's ultimatum—"the Dean's orders are that no one will be allowed a retake examination except those whose absence is due to illness or death"... is there no escaping these beastly exams?... 'stoo bad that football had to be dropped just when we were all going out for the team... d'Ambrogio's car is ailing again... water on the knee-action.... Kammer has sworn off tuxedos... you ask him why... which reminds us that Don Lee and Greg Kane claim that they will do anything for a favor... they, and several of the other boys proved it not so many moons ago... (Georgetown papers, please do not copy!)... if, as we're taught in physics, a point is a location without dimensions, Paul Kircher wants to know how you can stretch it... Corp. Phelan is worrying about all the potential wine that is going to waste on the greensward.... Frank W. wants it known that he is not thinking of being exorcised... our mistake Frank, we're glad it passed off.... Ben O'Hare informs us that he is migrating to other climes early in June, but Don Douglas rises to say that he is satisfied with his City... if Bob Botta looks like a kid on Xmas eve, it's because Annie does live there any more, and June fifth isn't far off, and shucks,—you're only young once, eh Bob?... R. Lewis said he had a swell pun, but I forgot to axiom... asked several Juniors why they came to college... all promised to think up a reason... on seeing a cullud postman wandering o'er the campus, "Hairbreadth Harry" Hohman is reported to have muttered excitedly, "Aha! Black-mail!"... (the old things are the best, wise guy)... things I'd like to see, but which I know I never will:—Sliver Cummings, (the galloping ghost of Loyola), in knickers... Larry Slowik in a top-hat... the whole thing in a nutshell... a class president with a sense of humor... (we extend the olive branch Laddie)... after listening to one of the vocational talks, Jack Lanahan strained a ligament trying to keep his back to the wall, his shoulder to the wheel and his nose to the grindstone... forensic aspirant with a poetical mind:—"ah, I see a forest, a brook, the flowers..."—voice from the back of the room:—"aw let's get outa here; that guy's got the D. Ts."... embarrassing moment number umphteen:—"I will now demonstrate what I have in mind", said the Prof. as he erased the blackboard... 'twas during Economics, and Elmer Lambdin, turning to the thundering multitude and with all possible dignity, did say "keep quiet you guys, there's a class going on next door"... Hoffman says that during the coming furlough, he intends not only to keep his boyish figure, but to double it... one last thought:—a friend in need, will probably try to bum a cigarette... everyone making the Dean's team will receive his letter sometime during the summer... which calls for the following:—

(AN ODE TO JUNE 5TH)

Said the Freshie to the Junior,
"I should really like to know,
Why these whiskered birds called 'Seniors',
Jump about and whistle so".
Said the Junior to the Freshie,
"Lad, I think that it must be,
That they're all darn glad it's over,
Even as you and me".

and so 'til it's condition-time on the campus, we'll be a'seein' of ya.

part of the program but we can rest assured that if the announcement comes in the meantime, it will be well received.

In cooperation with the Senior Class, the Juniors are attempting to set a precedent in the form of a Dinner Dance at one of Baltimore's smart country clubs. This affair will be limited to 75 couples, with admission by invitation only. The Seniors have first choice in the disposal of the invitations.

A Stag Party at Evergreen is scheduled for Senior Day, June 7th. The Seniors have several surprises in store for the party and moreover it will afford everyone an opportunity to bid the campus an informal farewell.

The 1934 Senior Ball is to take place at the Rolling Road Country Club in Catonsville, on June 8th. It was hoped that the Gym would be the scene of the Senior dance this year, but due to the impaired condition of Cold Spring Lane, it was thought best to hold it elsewhere. The "Townsmen" will play.

Sunday, June 10th is Graduation Day and a very busy one for all Seniors. In the morning, the Baccalaureate Services will take place at St. Ignatius Church at 8.00 A.M. Fr. Gerald G. Walsh, S.J., will preach the sermon. Mass will be followed immediately by a breakfast for the graduating class at one of the downtown hotels.

The Graduation Exercises are to be held in the Gymnasium at Evergreen at 8.00 P. M. An Alumni reception is to be held in the Library Building immediately after Graduation. Later in the evening a farewell party for the seniors is scheduled at the Summit.

start at 9.30 o'clock. The celebrants will be as follows: Archbishop Michael J. Curley, pontificating; the Very Rev. Edward C. Philips, S.J. Provincial of the Maryland and New York Province of the Jesus, will be Arch-Priest; the Deacons of Honor to the Archbishop will be the Very Rev. Eugene Harrigan, president of St. Charles' College, and the Very Rev. Ferdinand C. Wheeler, president of Loyola High School; the Deacon of the Mass will be the Rev. W. Paul Smith, and the Sub-Deacon will be the Very Rev. Henri J. Wiesel, president of Loyola College; the Masters of Ceremonies will be the Very Rev. Msgr. H. A. Quinn, Rector of the Cathedral, and the Rev. W. Carrol Milholland, Rector of St. Clement's Parish.

The students of Loyola College will go in a body to the celebration, as has been announced by Father Wiesel. Everyone is asked to cooperate in both attendance and promptness, thus insuring a good showing for the College.

sation of indulgences. These abuses were attacked viciously by Luther, but later he condemned the Papacy and the doctrine of indulgences itself, and was excommunicated on January 15, 1520.

Luther soon became the virtual leader of the German people and though alienated from the knights and peasants, his allegiance to the cause of the great nobles allowed him to retain his position as chief foe of the Papacy and the chief defender of those tenets which soon became the Lutheran religion. He died at Eisleben, February 18, 1546.

"It must be kept in mind," said Mr. Ciesielski, "that the Reformation was a mixture of social, political and religious factors. Discontent of the peasants, the greed of the knights, and the ambition of the princess all these combined to make the Reformation more than a mere religious upheaval."

Here's one for you to try when you happen to be in a playful mood, but don't say I told you! Take a rather small potato and, when no one's looking, stick it tightly into the exhaust pipe of your friend's (?) car. The motor will stall and no one's the wiser. (Nice pleasant chap!)

field of business. The potential wage-earners are Skelton, Dunne, Heckwolf, Jasaitis, Azzarello, Cuddy, Kuhl, Stairiker, Sattler, Dolan, Oskierko, Eustace, Schuppert, Morisi and Ahearn. Wise is going to New York where he has been offered a position in the banking business.

Bankoski is going to Philadelphia to a School of Undertaking where he'll learn what to do with them after Hanlon, Milholland, Klotzman, and Twardowicz finish with them. The former will study at Hopkins, the latter three at Maryland.

Zukowski will carry on post-graduate studies in biology. Foley will not have any competition from his classmates in the field of metallurgy. Dale and Bossert will grind away at the Maryland School of Denistry.

There are quite a few who have no definite plan, including Hooper, Rehkopf, Carew, Rosendale, Risacher, Galvin, Hartzell, Cleary, Steffey, Joyce and Stann. Waidner and Riley claim to be hold-outs for better offers. As the years pass they shall probably be found in many and varied positions.

We wish them all luck and prosperity.

The ensuing body of the lecture dwelt to a greater or lesser degree on the structure and composition of the chromosomes, the fateful influence of the sub-microscopic genes that determine character, the various causes of divergences from normality, such as,—lethal factors, linkage, interference, mutations, fragmentations, inversions, translocations, etc.—all these intricate exceptions to natural phenomena conspiring to invalidate the definite pronouncements of experimenters in genetics and eugenics.

affirmative Mr. Little said that the N. R. A. was in keeping with American democratic principles and with the principles of Christian morality; he also showed that it had helped business and employment.

Mr. Round for the negative claimed that the N. R. A. does not correct the evils it was intended to cure and that its evils effects far out weigh its supposed benefits.

Principles Needed

Stressing the need for the adoption of the N. R. A.'s basic principles because of the breakdown and failure of the system of free competition, Mr. Ciesielski stated that the policy of individual initiative had resulted in low wages, child labor, and widespread unemployment that would be permanent because of overproduction and unchecked use of machine.

In his speech Mr. Rice declared that the N. R. A. was too complicated, that there was danger of corruption in its administration and that its permanent adoption would lead to a change in government for the United States.

The class of 1909 will be honored by the College on the occasion of their 25th Anniversary.

Address

The Salutatory address will be delivered by Mr. C. Rollins Hanlon and the Valedictory by Mr. Edward Schaub. The titles of the respective addresses will be "The Ideals Embodied in the Maryland Foundation", and "The Maryland Ideals in Maryland Tradition."

Diplomas will be conferred upon forty-eight members of the Graduating Class. An alumni reception for the graduates will be held in the Library Building after the exercises.

HERE AND THERE

The Student Council wishes to announce that it has recently approved the plans for a new large College banner which will be displayed at commencements, banquets and other school functions.

Each class, as well as the members of the Alumni will be asked to contribute towards defraying the expense. The names of the contributors will be published in the first issue of the Greyhound next fall.

The banner will be a green rectangle with a grey border. In the center will be a circular design featuring the seals of the House of Loyola and Lord Baltimore.

Members of the "Bedford Club" take note:

Professor Pope R. Hill, of the University of Georgia, flipped a penny 40,000 times and found at the finish that the odds are about even. By next July he expects to have flipped his penny for the 100,000th time.

Buck up, my Lads! There's still a bit of hope for the regulars on the Dean's varsity. For one thing, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh flunked out of the

This may not be exactly in our line, but it does concern education, colleges, etc., so here goes—(Alright, smarty, everybody doesn't know it.)—This year, 1934, is the quadricentennial of the founding of the Jesuit Order.

ISN'T IT

With the hungry horde milling madly around the counter; when the pace is fast, and the soup is scarce and you are fairly starving; when you are striving tooth and nail to get your mitts on that last bowl of liquid proteins; when you have firmly resolved to refill and don't give a hoot how much you crush your neighbors in the melee, isn't it disconcerting to find that the chap with whom you have been having the little pre-prandial set-to, is not, as you had supposed, just one of the students, but is, in reality, one of the younger members of the faculty? Now isn't it?

Freshman Baseballers Win Two

Youngsters Whip Vocational And Franklin Day On Home Lot

The Freshman baseball team of Loyola won its third and fourth straight games of the season on Thursday and Friday of last week when they defeated Vocational 5 to 1 and Franklin Day School 7 to 0.

In the Vocational game Frank Bossle twirled for the Frosh and held the foe to six scattered hits. His mates pounded out four runs in the last three innings to break a one run tie which had lasted from the start of the game. Don Powers' triple, and two doubles by Tommy Bracken featured the Green and Grey attack.

A rather ironic note was inserted in the Vocational fray when the Freshmen, who cracked the last bat they owned, borrowed a war stick from their opponents and clubbed out the four winning runs with it.

The Frosh won the Franklin Day game behind the pitching of Andy Horne, who deserted his familiar place in the outfield to work on the mound. Horne pitched five stanzas of the seven inning game before he retired because of a sore arm. Andy allowed two hits, struck out eight batters, had two assists, smacked out two hits, and scored two runs, which indicates a rather busy afternoon for the little southpaw.

Tommy Bracken and Don Powers again supplied most of the power in the Loyola offensive. Bracken batted with a triple and a single, while Powers contributed a double and a single to the cause.

A special rooting section composed of small boys became downright insulting when Joe McCarthy drove out several long flies to the Franklin Day outfielders.

George Lunak, who played centerfield for the Freshmen, relieved Horne on the hill and baffled the Franklin Day batters with his assortment of curves.

Teachers' Bats While
Mates Hit Well

The Loyola Freshman baseball team defeated State Normal, 7 to 3, at Towson last week. The loss was the first sustained by the Teachers this season.

After jumping on the home team for three runs in the first inning, the Frosh added one more in the third and another trio in the sixth to lead their opponents all the way.

Powers Twirls Well

The Normal batters were held well in check by the hurling of Don Powers, the Freshman pitching ace, who allowed but six hits during the game. Although he gave seven free trips to first base and was nicked for a robust home-run clout by Fost, Powers kept the bingles scattered and the Loyola boys had no trouble in holding their lead.

The Freshmen had their sights adjusted to the slants of the Teachers' pitcher, and they garnered thirteen hits from his offerings. Andy Horne pumped out two triples for his days work, and Bracken and Bossle each hit for three bases.

Coach Comerford

Everyone was pleased to hear last week that Tony Comerford will be back at Loyola next year. It will seem a little strange not to hear him running his football players through their paces out on the grid-iron, but all the students will now have the advantage of his direction in their sports.

The direction of intramural athletics may be something new for Tony, and he may not enjoy the work as much as he did coaching football, but we can be sure that whatever work he has to do will be done thoroughly and well.

Loyola could have made no happier choice of the man to install the new system of sports at Evergreen, for Coach Comerford is as sociable and likable a fellow as you could find. Add to that his ability in handling boys and you have the perfect Athletic Director.

Juniors and Sophomores Tie in Golf Match at Clifton Park

Play-Off To Be Held Later
Freshmen Third In Team Play

On Thursday, May 10th, an informal golf match between the Junior, Sophomore and Freshman Classes was held at Clifton Park.

Each class was represented by a four man team and the scoring was conducted according to the Nassau system, as is commonly used in team match play.

After the last putt was holed, it was found that the Sophs and Juniors each tallied 13 points to tie for first place. The Freshmen brought up the rear with 10 points. The tie for the winning laurels will be played off at a later date.

The summary:

Juniors
Stallo	3½
Kane	6
Wright	0
Colvin	3½
Sophomores
Vogel	0
Maguire	2
Duke	5½
Wise	5½
Freshman
Keidel	5½
Dougherty	1
Barranger	3½
Moran	0

SOPHS. WIN 1ST ROUND
OF CLASS INDOOR LEAGUE

BEAT FROSH FOR HONORS

Seniors And Juniors Trail
Younger Classes In

The Sophomore Class won the first round of the indoor tournament by completing their schedule of games undefeated. Last week the second year men bested the Freshmen in the deciding game of the round, 14-10.

With Lou Bellestri hurling good ball, the Frosh got off to an early 3 to 1 lead in the first inning and led the Sophs for four stanzas. The Sophomores solved Bellestri's delivery in the fifth and sixth innings and piled up their fourteen runs. Will Ferrarini held the Frosh batters in check except in two innings when a home run by Tom Carney and a triple by Will Smith scored most of the Freshman runs.

The Seniors failed to win a game and gained undisputed possession of last place for the first round, while the Junior class won their only victory at the expense of the graduating men. The victory over the Freshmen gives the Sophs a perfect mark with three wins.

The second round will decide the winner of the tourney. Prizes will be awarded to the winning team. The boys are settling down to serious play for the final round and expect to show a snappy brand of play down the stretch.

Tennis Squad Drops Decision
As Colvin Defeats Brooke
Hopkins Star

The Loyola varsity tennis team dropped a 6-3 decision to the Johns Hopkins racqueteers on the courts at Homewood. Price Colvin, Loyola's number one player, figured in two of the three points his team earned.

Colvin whipped Brooke, the red-headed Hopkins star, in two hard-fought sets, 10-8, 6-4. Later Colvin teamed with Roesser to defeat Ladensky and McGregor in the doubles. After dropping the first set 2-6, the Green and Grey players rallied to capture the next two at 6-2, 8-6.

Cuddy Wins for 'Hounds

Charlie Cuddy gained Loyola's other point by lacing Kramer of Hopkins, 6-2, 6-4. Hartman won a long match for Hopkins when he defeated Bell in three sets. The Blue Jay captured his first set handily by a 6-0 score, but Bell evened the match by winning the second 13-15. Hartman then ran off the deciding set at 6-4.

Palitz of Hopkins beat Flynn in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4. Ladensky and McGregor won their singles bouts from Roesser and Cummings to clinch the team match for the Blue Jays.

Eddie Rehkopf Picked As Best
Senior Athlete In Greyhound Poll

In a poll conducted by the Greyhound, Edward Rehkopf was chosen by the Loyola students as the best athlete in the graduating class this year.

Rehkopf was closely pressed in the voting by George Waidner, captain of the '33 football team, and Joseph Morisi, the stocky All-Maryland guard. Heavy balloting in the Freshman and Sophomore classes swung the balance in Eddie's favor.

Alumni Chatter

L. M.

Bang!

Everytime I start on the first paragraph of this column I think: "Now I'm going to say something original this time. What'll it be?" Then I'm stuck, and so it goes on, issue after issue: "Let's see what we can dig up this time about our Alumni, etc, etc. . . ." So I've decided that this time I'm going to start off like a fire-cracker. Here goes—

Well, well, another two weeks have slid by, so let's see what we can dig up, etc., etc. . . .

Mr. Joyce Dead

Many times, by the time an issue reaches you, weeks have passed since the happening of events pertaining to the Alumni. For instance, many of you no doubt know of the death of Jerome H. Joyce, Jr., '14, who died on April 21. Up to the time of his fatal illness, Mr. Joyce was Assistant to the President of the Guilford Realty Company.

I don't believe I've said anything about the death of Francis X. Milholland '99. He was one of the most loyal sons of Loyola, and was the President of the Alumni around 1921. Up until the time of his death, in the latter part of March, he held the office of Assistant to the First Vice President of the B. and O.

The communion Breakfast was held on Sunday, April 29. The celebrant of the Mass was Rev. W. F. Sauer '15, of St. Ambrose

Church, and the speaker was Rev. George F. Strohaber, ex '08.

Lecture

Dr. J. Albert Chatard '98 lectured before the entire student body recently. The subject of his talk concerned the various professions which lie open to us, and he stressed the point that we should begin serious consideration of what we are to do and be. His talk was very interesting and clear, and at the finish he received hearty applause. We wish to thank Dr. Chatard for the lecture which he so graciously delivered.

Congratulations

Meanwhile, with the item that Mr. Roger Davis, ex '26 and Mrs. Davis are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Johanne, born April 8, this column extends congratulations to the lucky couple, and seizes this opportunity to put an end to your misery—but let's hope we'll meet again next issue!

Attorney

Mr. Thomas B. Harrington, A.B., '21, who is a Speaker of the House, has been appointed Assistant District Attorney.

Mass

A Mass for the late Rev. J. B. Kailer, '15, was said at St. Edwards Church by the Most Reverend T. J. Toolen, '06, Bishop of Mobile. The Rev. William A. Toolen, '87, delivered the sermon.

The Reverend Edward P. McAdams, A.B., '96, of St. Joseph's Church, Washington, is conducting a series of Holy Hours at the Washington Retreat House.

Invitations have been sent by Cornelius J. Byrnes, '30, for his Ordination. Archbishop Curley will officiate at the Ordination which will take place at the Cathedral on May the twenty-ninth. Father Byrnes will say his first solemn Mass on Sunday, May twenty-seventh at St. Ann's Church.

ALUMNI WELL REPRESENTED

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 2) recommended as the most effective means of obtaining the removal of objectional films, the four suggestions set forth by this periodical, namely: Stay away from objectional movies, protest to the producers individually, protest to the offending stars and lastly, help to spread the movement.

Following the talk, the pledge to the Blessed Virgin was taken and Sodality Medals were distributed to those present. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament closed the services.

Among the Alumni present were Mr. George Renehan, '18, the Storck brothers, Ed, '32 and Craig, '33; Ray Kirby, '33, Bill Nahm, '33, Frank Otcenasek, '33, Chief Bender, '33 and Ray Spellissy, '27.

"I THANK YOU—
I thank you ever so much—but I couldn't even think about smoking a cigarette."

"WELL, I UNDERSTAND, but they are so mild and taste so good that I thought you might not mind trying one while we are riding along out here."
